ABOUT AIDA US

AIDA, the Association Internationale de Droit des Assurances, is a worldwide organization of insurance and reinsurance attorneys in private practice and in companies, regulators, academics and others who are engaged in the international and comparative aspects of insurance and reinsurance law. AIDA has over 50 National Chapters. The U.S. Chapter is the International Insurance Law Society, Inc.

The U.S. Chapter is dedicated to bringing together lawyers and executives from companies, law firms, brokers and related businesses, as well as academics, to share perspectives and develop opportunities in the insurance and reinsurance fields.

In the era of globalization, membership in AIDA US is essential for anyone engaged in international insurance and reinsurance law.

Further information about joining AIDA US can be obtained by contacting Steve Acunto, AIDA US Managing Director, at sa@cinn.com.

THE GLOBAL CREDIT CRISIS AND THE INTERNATIONAL INSURANCE INDUSTRY

DEAR COLLEAGUES:

We are pleased to announce that AIDA US, the American Chapter of the International Insurance Law Society, will hold an afternoon seminar immediately following the ARIAS•US Conference on Friday, November 7th, from 1:30-4:15PM. "The Global Credit Crisis and the International Insurance Industry" brings together leaders in the field whose update will prove useful in key areas. We welcome your participation.

With hundreds of billions of dollars in corporate write-downs already taken and more to come, billions of dollars in insurance exposure, and an increase in the number of suits being filed, the credit crisis is at the forefront of the insurance industry's concerns. We believe that it is a good time to take a look at these trends and also to understand some very specific issues as they emerge.

You will see that our faculty and subject matter are of great interest to professionals in the field.

On our registration form is an invitation for you to join AIDA US for 2009, an attractive offer to offset the cost of your participation at this and other events. We at AIDA US feel strongly that our international perspectives and network will be of great value to our colleagues in the field and think you will agree and join.

Looking forward to seeing you at the afternoon AIDA US Symposium immediately following the closing of the ARIAS•US Conference.
